Broad stripes and bright stars

Veteran

I was a proud veteran
That served my country well
To those that would listen
I had many stories to tell.

We fought for America's freedom
In far away places on foreign land.
Wherever the battle for democracy raged,
America's finest made a stand.

We fought for your future
And the right to remain free.
For we saw what freedom meant
To those not blessed with Liberty.

For you and yours
We would gladly have given our life.
We faced the fears and perils of battle
We braved endless turmoil and strife.

Please remember us veterans
And the sacrifices we made for you.
Please share the blessings of freedom,
Proudly wave the red, white and blue.

"What Do These Stones Mean?"

Another Memorial Day is upon us. Among other ideas, if there is one thing that this special day should achieve it is to help us to be mindful of the "next generation." We want our children and our children's children to understand the sacrifices that have been made to secure the freedoms we have come to enjoy in this blessed nation. Memorials of good things and of good people are very important to us.

In Joshua 4 the account is told of Israel's memorial crossing of the Jordan River to take possession of the land of Canaan. The Lord instructed Joshua to take one man from each of the twelve tribes, and for them each to take up a stone from the middle of the Jordan. He said, "when your children ask in time to come, saying, 'What do these stones mean to you?' Then you shall answer them that the waters of the Jordan were cut off before the ark of the covenant of the LORD; when it crossed over the Jordan...these stones shall be for a memorial..." (vv 6-7).

One thing this passage teaches is that God is mindful of the "next generation." He wants our children and our children's children to know why He did what He did among His people. Moses once said, "And these words which I command you today shall be in your heart. You shall teach them diligently to your children..." (Deut. 6:6-7).

Today, of course, we do not live under the old covenant of Moses but under the new covenant in Christ (Heb. 8); yet this concept is still true (God is mindful of the generations that follow). In Ephesians 6:4 Paul says, "And you, fathers, do not provoke your children to wrath, but bring them up in the training and admonition of the Lord." (Also read 2 Timothy 1:5 and 3:14-15). You see, we have an obligation toward our children; to diligently teach them and to remind them of God and His word.

Consider this: here in the church age, the Lord's Supper is a memorial feast (1 Cor. 11:24-25). If your children should ask you, "What does this mean?" – would you be able to tell them?

Laura Sue Van Sickle

Laura Sue Van Sickle, age 72, passed away peacefully at home on May 15, 2023 surrounded by her husband and daughters. She was born May 10, 1951 in Crestline, Ohio to the late Archie Roe and Maxine Billingsley. She was a 1969 graduate of Lexington High School. She married her first love, Lloyd Francis Van Sickle, in September of 1969.

Laura was a fun spirited soul who took on many passions, but her biggest passion was her kids and grandkids. She had a talent for sharing the good news of Jesus with children teaching Vacation Bible School. She found comfort and peace in nature and enjoyed sightseeing around Ohio. One of her favorite places was the ocean, especially when she could sit on a balcony and watch an evening thunderstorm roll in. She didn't love to cook but everyone loved her fried chicken, potato salad and deviled eggs.

For many years Laura worked at Morrow Manor of Chesterville where it suited her servant heart. She also worked as church secretary for First Baptist Church where she was able to share her love of the Lord.

Her life, until the very end, was a living example of one of her favorite Bible verses, Psalm 37:7 — "Rest in the Lord and wait patiently for Him..." She was a listener, encourager, and supporter to friends and family; always able to quote bible verses that fit any situation.

Everyone she left behind will miss her dearly, but there is comfort in knowing she is now beyond the pain and suffering in this life. She is home... with her Lord, where we will meet her again in Heaven.

Laura is survived by her husband, Lloyd; two daughters, Bonnie (Jack) Shumaker, Michelle Laipply; grandchildren, Tristen (Cameron) Laipply, Taylor (Daniel Harriman) Laipply, Aden Laipply; plus three great grandchildren, Kenneth Laipply, Carter Laipply, and Elaina Harriman; her sister, Deborah (Davidson) Tiffany; her brother, Gregg (Helen) Roe, and a number of other loving relatives and friends. All of whom she loved deeply.

In addition to her parents, Laura was preceded in death by her brother, Brad Kemp; and son-in-law, Ken Laipply.

Please join us in celebrating her life Friday, May 26, 2023, at 12:00 p.m. at First Baptist Church, 51 West High Street, Mt. Gilead, with Pastor Dr. Roger N. Morris officiating. The family will greet friends from 11:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m. Burial will follow in Rivercliff Cemetery.

Memorial donations may be made to her favorite charity for children, St. Jude Children's Research Hospital at www.stjude.org.

Snyder Funeral Homes of Mount Gilead are honored to have been chosen to serve Laura's family. Special memories or condolences may be shared by visiting www.SnyderFuneralHomes.com.

Car Repairs Not To Try At Home

by Kevin Leger

(NAPS)—When it comes to taking care of cars, all those countless "do it yourself" videos make it all seem so straightforward and easy. So, too many people take matters into their own hands, only to realize after they've taken everything apart, only a trusted mechanic can fix the problem.

As cars are becoming more advanced, it's important to visit your automotive repair shop for professional car care. Here's a list of seemingly simple but actually complex repairs you shouldn't try at home.

Simple Maintenance and Repairs:

- Brake Fluid Flush: Without proper equipment, home mechanics will not be able to get all the old brake fluid out of the system. Car owners might accidentally put power steering fluid in the brake fluid reservoir, potentially causing a complete failure of the entire braking system, requiring thousands of dollars to repair.
- Coolant Flush: Similarly, without proper chemicals and equipment, car owners can't remove built-up residue and deposits, leaving behind old coolant. Additionally, home mechanics might not know the correct mix of antifreeze and water, causing the system to be at the incorrect freezing or boiling point. Car owners might also put ordinary tap water in the system, causing excessive corrosion.
- Fuel Injector Cleaning: Most products sold in auto parts stores are meant to be added to the gas tank and do not provide proper cleaning. A professional auto repair team, such as the ones at Meineke, will clean the carbon deposits from the throttle body and intake/exhaust valves, improving engine performance and fuel economy.

Moderately Complex Repairs:

- Brakes: Few things are more alarming than brake failure. In fact, brake maintenance may be the most important service in terms of safety. A good brake job doesn't just require resurfacing rotors and drums but also properly oiling key components to avoid excessive wear and noise. And failure to tighten all bolts can result in unexpected brake failure if they loosen. With the complexity of the modern car, it's better to visit a shop that is equipped with the special tools and diagnostic equipment needed for maintaining your brakes.

Vehicles today are too complex for most drivers to do their own repairs. Fortunately, there are plenty of professionals in Kentucky who can help.

- Suspension Work: Vehicle suspension systems are complex and many components have significant spring tension. A professional will make sure spring tension is properly secured, limiting the possibility of serious damage to your vehicle.
- Battery Replacement in Hybrid or Electric Vehicles: Not only could an incorrect replacement cause engine or drive train damage that could cost thousands to repair, disposal of the old batteries may also be an environmental hazard.
- Air Conditioning Systems: Attempting to recharge a system using cans of refrigerant available at auto parts stores could overcharge it, leading to catastrophic failure and costing thousands to fix. Additionally, refrigerant could leak into the atmosphere, contributing to environmental issues.

Where To Get Help

Whether a vehicle needs seemingly simple maintenance or moderately complex repairs, car owners should visit an automotive repair shop for professional car care. And with the recent chip crisis affecting the supply of new cars at dealerships, technicians at car care centers such as Meineke can help prevent further damage and extend the life of your car.

• Mr. Leger owns a Meineke Car Care Center in Louisville, Kentucky.
